Rainforest Biodiversity Group's 3rd Annual Bird-a-Thon

Saturday, May 9th

The Rainforest Biodiversity Group, is a nonprofit organization working to protect biological diversity, including migratory bird species, through the protection of habitat in Costa Rica. This habitat is extremely important for the conservation and preservation of many of our breeding birds here in Wisconsin. We will be holding our 3rd Annual Bird-a-Thon on Saturday, May 9th to help protect as much of this valuable habitat as possible. So grab a friend and your favorite bins and help us meet our annual fund-raising goal by using this pledge sheet!

The concept is simple, birders volunteer on May 9 to identify (see or hear) as many species of birds during that day as possible. Each birder secures pledges for their individual birding effort. Donors can either pledge a certain amount per bird species seen or heard, or they can simply make a flat donation to support their birder. To donate, simply email Daniel Schneider (birdmandaniel@gmail.com) of RBG with the amount PER BIRD SPECIES you would like to donate, and he will assign you a birder to sponsor.

Get a free RBG Bird-a-Thon T-shirt if you raise OR donate $50 or more!

The Rainforest Biodiversity Group is a fully accredited non-profit and your donations are tax deductible.
